The image shows a floor plan of a suite with various rooms and corridors. A central area is labeled "suite 1020". Several colored lines represent different cable or pipe routes: a green line starts from the left wall, goes up, right, and down; a blue line starts from the top wall, goes right, down, and right; a cyan line starts from the bottom wall, goes right, up, and right. There are also grey rectangular areas representing furniture or equipment, and a door on the right side. Dashed lines indicate grid lines or room boundaries.
